

BOY SCOUTS VISIT NASH AUTO PLANT

Sure they had a good time. Who? The scouts from troop 6, DesPlaines and scouts from troop 9, Palatine. Hows that? You see, DesPlaines walked off with the rally banner, and troop 6 DesPlaines secured the greatest number of points at the rally, so inasmuch as they were the winners, they were awarded in a very interesting manner. Mr. Poyer, the Nash dealer in DesPlaines, and the Nash dealer in Palatine furnished the transportation for the boys, and a fast trip to the Nash plant was made. The gang started to go through the plant at 10 a. m. and were through at 12, and O, boy, didn't some of those boys drag their feet. Bad as a fourteen mile hike. Just the same they learned a great deal, and when they took their dinner with them they probably will be more careful of it, as they learned to their surprise that many hands make an auto, and also that great care was exercised in seeing that each part was assembled properly, etc.

After the trip through the plant the boys were taken down to the beach at Lake Michigan where they tried and did cook their dinner with delight and in real camper's style. As usual it fell upon Mr. Landane the executive and scoutmaster Kincaid to participate in every one's fun. Oh yes, between layers of sand and in hard fried potatoes and sleeping bacon real sandwiches were made and indulged in by the men in charge. After the beach banquet, the boys played capture the flag, and Kenneth Loton was the busiest fellow around trying to hang on to the prize, as he was continually pestered by the other scouts. We understand Kenneth Nelson of DesPlaines, had so much sand in his eyes that he couldn't see to eat his supper and he was not the only one nearly everyone was ready for the hay when they got home, tired and hungry but it did them a world of good.

Park Ridge local council organized very thoroughly when they held a meeting in the study of Rev. Carr's at the Mary Wilson House last week. Each one of the duties were outlined in detail so that each man understands full well his duty to the boys.

These men determined that scouting in Park Ridge shall take a big stride forward, and certainly if the men carry through the way they started out that the rest of the towns will have to watch their score from the start.

A motion was made and carried that the balance of the money due to the N. W. suburban council should be paid and as soon as this is done it will give Park Ridge 1,000 points, in their efficiency contest with other councils. Park Ridge men are determined to forge ahead and mean to take the efficiency award at the Boys Rally. That is a challenge to the rest of the councils, and by the way Park Ridge is going to meet once a month regularly. The DesPlaines men are meeting this week on Wednesday evening at the city hall and an election of officers will take place. They too are determined that scouting in DesPlaines shall take a real step forward. Watch them go. Mr. Bevans is the pilot and a good one and the good ship DesPlaines is bound to take to the right channel.

On Arbor Day the scouts will participate in planting of trees in the forest preserve, thus learning a new plan of savings, and that is of our forests and shrubs.

A special group of boys trained by Mr. Landane from DesPlaines together with Mr. Craton the commissioner will start out at once putting on a preliminary training school for troop committeemen and scoutmasters and scouts. The first meeting will be held in Park Ridge in the Community Church April 8, and every scoutmaster is urged to get in touch with his troop committeemen in Park Ridge and urge them to be present. All council members are also urged to be present. On Friday evening, the 16th of April, the troop will journey to Barrington and put on the work in the Methodist church, and on Monday, the 18th, at the Methodist church. Further announcements of other dates will be announced later. The standings of the council and the troops are as follows.

SPRUCE UP

Which street in town presents the best appearance to the stranger? Which lawns show the most diligent work upon the part of its owners? Does the man with the modest home take as much interest in its appearance as the man who has a modern $15,000 to $20,000 abode? Can the beauties of nature be found in some small yard without a pretentious residence for a background? These things will be decided in the clean-up campaign. Read news columns for the particulars.

Red Arrow Money Gets Bargain at First Red Arrow Auction

Saturday afternoon, the first Red Arrow auction was held at Arlington Heights. The roadway in front of the Gieseke store was filled with holders of Red Arrow money, who were cashing in on their Red Arrow money, that they had been collecting from the local store who are giving out this medium of exchange. "Where did you get all of that money?" were frequently heard in the crowd when some over zealous bidder raised the bid of his neighbor by a "five" or a "ten."

The highest price paid for any one article was $150 for an auto tire. A sack of sugar was a close second with $147.50. A blanket brought $75 and a lot of fun was had with a vanity case that was bid up to $75, and the bidders were not all girls, either.

The spectators who gathered around the auction block out of curiosity felt a little out in the cold due to the fact that the only brand of money that was any good was the Red Arrow. Some of the bidders found that their supply of arrow money was not sufficient to get them very far in the bidding. These took home their funds and say that when they come to the next auction they will have a supply that will take anything that their fancy may call for.

Find Hidden Arrow

Mrs. Geo. Kost secured the Red Arrow and the five dollars in U. S. money that went along with it in the arrow hunt. Miss Taylor was the one who had the arrow. She surrendered it early in the day, when Mrs. Kost approached her and said the words that won the hidden arrow and captured the prize. The next auction will be held early in May. An organization prize of $75 in gold will be offered for the latter part of May.

Cheap Vegetables and Gas Make Entertain- ing Easy in California

Some day the editor of this paper is going to California to find out for himself if all those things that are told about that state are true. That was the decision he made Wednesday when a returned visitor from that sunny land told him a California story, "not for publication, however."

The first question he asked our friend was "How do the Arlington Heights people who have moved to California afford to entertain so many travelers from home?" Answer, "They feed them on vegetables which are cheap and as the gas that cooks them is also cheap, there is no real hardship involved." That took a load off from the editor's mind and he then and there decided to visit California. He never felt he had money enough to patronize the hotels and he did not want to sponge off our friends.

To our inquiry as to the California habits of J. D. Helmkin, our friend says that he appears younger every day and is becoming real sleek-like in appearance.

To our surprise we learned that all California people do not own six and eight cylinder cars and that J. D. Diederich drives a Ford that is reputed to have taken more Illinois visitors on sight seeing tours around California than any other privately owned car. J. is the official entertainer of the Arlington Heights society and he is never happier than when playing host to the fellows from back home. Nick Volz has a very fine home and while there are rumors in Arlington Heights that the Volz family will return to the Arlington Heights area, our friend says that he does not believe the California people know anything about such a plan.

Irving and James Chapman are as near to film land as any of the Arlington Heights colony. They have been building cement tennis courts for Gloria Swanson and others of the film celebrities. They likewise secured recently a 2 mile paving contract.

The returned visitor says that California may have the ideal climate, but in his estimation its greatest asset is the friendliness of the people. He did not want to hint that Illinois people are not good neighbors, but he did wish that every resident of the City of Good Neighbors could visit California and become acquainted with the California brand of neighborliness. We must remind him that the California people who showed such friendliness came originally from Illinois. They have nothing else to do out there but to be friendly.

CAMPAIGN FOR A CLEAN TOWN BEFORE EASTER

A Clean-up and Paint-up campaign is planned for Arlington Heights. The week of April 10-16 has been tentatively fixed as the week when yards and home of our citizens should be put in order for the coming summer. This paper is offering a prize of $10 for the best appearing street in Arlington Heights on Easter morning. The judges and rules governing this contest will be announced in our next issue. While the $10 cannot be divided among individual residents of the street that secures the prize, it will be paid to one of the civic associations in the name of such residents. The names of the latter will be a part of the award notice that will appear in this paper the following week.

This prize is not offered as pay for cleaning-up the yard, but its purpose is to stimulate interest in a general cleaning up of Arlington Heights placing the drive upon a competitive basis. The village board will probably pass a resolution at its next meeting officially declaring the week of April 10-17 as official clean-up week. They will order that all rubbish placed on curb lines in receptacles by Monday morning, April 11 will be collected by the village. When Easter morning arrives the streets, curbs and yards will present a spic and span appearance.

This can not be accomplished without the co-operation of all citizens of the village. One resident who neglects to do his part will spoil the appearance of the entire street. It is up to all residents to get busy with the rake and hoe.

There are two sides to every question and the second side to the clean-up matter, is the "paint-up" drive. Everybody can clean-up, but the need of a general paint-up of the town will be emphasized during that week. This paper has prepared small signs reading as follows, "We are going to paint. How about you?" The placing of such a sign upon a house will entitle that street to 10 points in the "clean-up contest." All houses can be painted before Easter, but their owners can make a decision to use the paint brush upon their places some time during the coming spring.

This paper is interested in learning how many people in this village are sufficiently interested in beautifying the town to join this painting and clean-up drive. This paper alone can not make it a success. Columns of this paper are open to any suggestions. Local co-operation makes the $10 prize available. The local organization to which the prize money is to be paid, is asked to appoint a chairman or committee to handle their interests.

Note—A similar prize under the same conditions will be offered to any town having departments in this publication, whose village board will designate an official clean up week and where some civic organization will stand sponsor for the contest.

"High Powered" Salesmen Keep Out of Heights

The Arlington Heights Lions Club and the Business Men's Association are each ready to co-operate upon a plan which will keep out of Arlington Heights the high powered salesmen and incidentally save the business men many hundreds of dollars each year. The immediate action on this matter was brought about by the circulating of a classified telephone directory, which is of little use and advertising value, but took several hundred dollars out of Arlington Heights. It also leads to confusion in the telephone system. The directory company have not secured all of their money and they never will. A few of the advertisers therein have agreed to "stand pat." It is no secret that the case will be fought in the courts if necessary, at no expense to said advertisers.

This classified directory is but one of the many leeches that have preyed upon the advertising appropriation of many local business houses, giving nothing in return. The same applied to solicitors, many of whom are fakes.

The Lions club considered the matter at its meeting Tuesday evening and its president, C. M. Behrens presented the matter to the board of directors of the business men's association that same night. It is being discussed by the latter association this Thursday evening.

The board of directors considered many matters of importance on Tuesday evening. Announcement will be made later. Arlington Heights growth will be along other lines the coming year than just new homes. There are several matters now under consideration by outsiders as well as local people, that will be of the greatest importance and benefit to the City of Good Neighbors.

HOUSE KNOCKS OUT BILL FOR SCHOOL NURSE

With members declaring in fiery speeches against paternalistic "snooper" legislation, the Illinois house of representatives today killed the Swift bill to give authority to employ school nurses and made out the status of school nurses through out Illinois without sanction of law.

The bill sought to legalize the situation created when Attorney General Oscar Carlstrom recently found in the case of the city of Waukegan that school directors and boards of education had no right under the statute to employ nurses to supervise children in the public schools.

Approved by Senate

The measure, introduced by Senator Rodney B. Swift of Highland Park, had received the approval of the senate and came before the house subject to amendment under the sponsorship of Rep. William F. Weiss of Waukegan.

It had no sooner appeared on the floor than it became the target for an attack led by Rep. Elmer J. Schnakenberg of Chicago and Representative Lee O'Neil of Brownsville.

Own Your Own Home Expo. Opens Saturday

Final preparations were under way for Chicago's seventh annual "Own Your Home Building and Equipment" exposition, which opens in the Coliseum April 2.

Chicagoans are promised the most educational exposition of its kind ever held. Every type of house construction, together with the planning, selection of the home site, financing, building, decorating, furnishing and landscaping of the home will be shown.

The feature of the exposition is the "Court of Homes," surrounding a garden. Houses of brick, stucco, frame, concrete and faced concrete units will be shown. The front elevations will be finished but the interior will be cross section appearing like a gigantic knife had cut thru them to show how walls, floors, roofs and structural work should be done.

The exposition is conducted under the auspices of the Chicago Real Estate Board.

"Home ownership is the ambition of every family," says Robert H. Sexton, managing director of the exposition. "The purpose of the exposition is to visualize every step in satisfying that ambition, from the selection and purchase of a lot, designing and planning of the house, methods of financing, character of building materials, types of construction, heating, ventilating and sanitation systems labor savings and so on to the laying out of the grounds and their landscaping."

The exposition will open on Saturday, April 2, at 1 p. m. and will continue daily, including Sunday to the following Saturday night, closing at 11 o'clock.

New Postoffice Clerk Travels from Ariz. To New Position

E. I. Strand is the new postal clerk in the Arlington Heights postoffice. The local postoffice needed a clerk and as Mrs. Strand nee Janet Putnam, is a former Arlington Heights young lady, who desired to return to Illinois. A transfer from the post office at Los Vegas, New Mexico supplied the need in the local post office and again brought together the Wm. C. Muller family.

Mr. and Mrs. Strand traveled the 1826 miles in 7 days, coming by the way of Trinidad, Ariz., Topeka, Kansas, and St. Louis. A large part of the distance was on paved road. They arrived here Saturday. Los Vegas is a city of about 8,000 population and has all improvements, but owing to crop failures, business is dull at this time. The success of the city depends entirely upon the success of the ranchers and farmers. It is over 6,000 feet above sea level. The Strands liked the climate down there but Illinois is nearer home to both of them. They will reside in a flat on East Euclid.

Ost mill which will be his stock room and from where he will conduct his business.

OPEN HOUSE AT ARLINGTON HIGH SCHOOL TONIGHT

The Arlington Heights high school has its open house this Friday evening. The "stockholders" of that school district will have the opportunity of seeing for themselves the manner of instruction, the results obtained and the kind of work that is being done in the local high school. The "open house" is to be something more than just an exhibit of school work. The newly organized school band and school orchestra will each give 3 numbers on the program. A style show will be another feature. The latter is produced by the sewing classes of which the freshmen and junior girls are the members. They will appear upon the platform in dresses made for themselves, by themselves. They will include school dresses of cotton, wool garments for school and silk afternoon and evening gowns. There will likewise be an exhibit of children's garments that the sewing classes have made for the woman's club.

The sophomore girls will present a short one act play, entitled, "A Little Mistake," the above part of the program will be held in the assembly hall. At its close, the visitors will retire to the gymnasium, where the physical training classes will present demonstration work. Here again the high school girls will provide the predominate share of the entertainment. There will be classic dances as well as coltan stunts by the young ladies.

The general open house will follow. There will be special exhibits in all departments. The manual training department has been working for some time upon their exhibit and they have an interesting one.

Public Hearing On Street Improvements

Public hearing for proposed water, sewer and street light improvements at Franklin Park has been set for April 25 in the village hall at 7:30 p. m.

First resolutions and estimates were adopted recently upon the proposals that water extension be made in Louis, Kirschhof and Scott streets from Schiller boulevard to Grand avenue and on Grand avenue from Scott street to Kirschhof. A proposal asks sewer extension in Kirschhof and Louis streets from Schiller boulevard to Scott street and on Grand avenue from Scott to Kirschhof.

Workmen Injured When Wall of Garage Falls

Two workmen engaged in the erection of the Center garage on Graceland Ave., DesPlaines, were injured last Saturday when the wall upon which they were working collapsed. The injured men were taken in the Lauterburg & Oehler ambulance to the St. Francis hospital, Evanston. One sustained a broken arm and both were badly cut and bruised. There are various rumors as to the cause of the accident. Some say that a passing freight train was partly to blame.

HONEYMOON HOME

CLYDE C. YOUNG

In picturing and exhibiting a Honeymoon Home to the people of Arlington Heights, the Herald is not doing anything new. It is an established tradition. For today are we not modeling after the old Roman and Spanish styles of architecture?

Nor are we the only ones to advocate the beautifying of the home. The great colleges of the U. S., the editors of the world press, gifted public speakers, writers on economic subjects, and everyone else with a real interest of our great wage-earning class of citizens at heart has been preaching "Beautifying the Home" doctrine long before the time of this generation. They have urged upon the toiling masses to own their homes; they have painted pictures, beautiful and true, of the great advantages of a home owning city. They have told of the independence of the home man and his family, that comes to him who takes pride in the home.

They have preached the sound doctrine and one that has struck home in the hearts and minds of everyone.

Where is the man, perching away at his bench or desk, working or sweating over his forge or lathe, doing the same task over and over in a deadly unending monotony, who does not cherish in his secret heart the hope that some day he may have a beautiful little home to call his own?

Who is there that does not realize that only by such a move as this can he bring a real peace and happiness to his declined years and rear his children in an atmosphere which makes it easy for them to develop into the right kind of men and women?

The purpose of the Herald in publishing this series of articles is to point out the means by which you can beautiful your home. The plan which will be laid before you is a practical one.

Through the courtesy of the Charles P. Gray Company and Geo. L. Parker and Son, contractors, the Herald will establish a real modern Honeymoon Home that will be open for inspection at Arlington Addition the exact date to be announced later.

This Honeymoon Home will be completely furnished in the most up to date manner.

Watch The Herald Mt Prospect Needs A Municipal Band, So Says Hy. Haberkamp

"If the municipal band did nothing but give us half a dozen concerts during the year, every taxpayer in Mt. Prospect will have had more than his money's worth from his investment."

In these words Henry Haberkamp, assistant leader of the Mt. Prospect band, sum up the services which a municipal band renders to the community. Mr. Haberkamp was one of the sponsors of the two-mill tax movement for band purposes, which is to be voted on by local citizens at the April election.

"What a town like Mt. Prospect needs more than anything else is good, clean, wholesome entertainment that the family may enjoy together," "Nothing so quickly brings people out and in their friendliest mood than open air music of a community or patriotic nature. It is a social gathering. People who seldom meet on other occasions not only meet but stop to chat because they have leisure. And the more people in town who call each other by their first names, the better off the town."

"Half a dozen patriotic concerts during the year will do more for Bensenville than five times the same money spent on almost any other municipal improvement. And in all probability, the band will give us more than this."

"A band supported by voluntary contributions is like a tickled in the slot piano; when the nickels give out, the music stops. And somebody has to get out and pass the hat. You can't expect a band to amount to much if its members have to be worrying constantly about money. Let's put music in our annual budget by passing the band proposition at the April election, and stop passing the hat."

May Hurry Up-State Solons by "Holding" Out" Pay Envelope

As a bait to make them speed up their work and shorten sessions, Illinois legislators had held up before them Wednesday by Representative Howard P. Castle of Barrington the chance of saving the state some $90,000 and themselves ten weeks' Springfield expenses.

Mr. Castle's bill, which provides that legislators shall be paid only half their salary, instead of the whole, as is the present custom, at the beginning of the session and the other half when they conclude their work, received the approval of the house committee on efficiency and economy by a vote of six to four.

The New York World thinks that if Babe Ruth were not a baseball player he would be driving a truck. It is a safe bet that he would be a good driver, judging from the way he drives out home-runs.

MT. PROSPECT TO VOTE NEW SCHOOL HOUSE

The voters of Mt. Prospect, School Dist. 57 will have the opportunity on Tuesday, April 5th to vote "for" or "against" a $25,000 bond issue to erect a four room brick school house. It will be strictly modern in every respect. The school directors have given considerable time and attention to studying this matter.

Mt. Prospect has been so busy installing street improvements and erecting new buildings that they have overlooked the needs of the public school. The same school that was used 25 years ago when Mt. Prospect was a mere hamlet is in use today. The need of a new building is so apparent that little or no opposition is expected. Mt. Prospect can not afford to lag behind neighboring villages along educational lines.

The new building will care for the elementary grades of the village for many years to come. Prospective residents of Mt. Prospect are interested in the kind of school the village possesses. A modern school building will mean a still greater and faster growth than that which the village has been experiencing the past two years. As new houses are erected the assessed valuation will increase and more taxes will be available to pay for the maintenance of the schools. District 57 is fortunate in having a site for the building and none of the bond issue money will be required to buy the location. The school directors are Wm. Pohlman, Wm. Kirchhoff and Edwin L. Busse. The teacher is Mrs. Butler.

School Directors Urges Voters To Participate in Election

Mr. Wm. Kirchhoff has issued the following appeal to the voters School District 57.

"An election will be held Tuesday, April 5, 1927 at the school house at Mt. Prospect, Dist. 57 to vote for or against a new public school and a $25,000 bond issue. Now it is up to the citizens of said District. If you know that the village of Mt. Prospect will grow and we must have more room. Our school is filled to the full capacity. If we should as we undoubtedly will get more pupils we have no place to put them. Our teacher Mrs. Isabel Butler has not sent in any complaint all though we had more pupils than the law allows in the size of the room we now have. It is not the duty of the directors to urge you to come and vote, but we do want your opinion. Use your own judgment. If you want a new school come and vote April 5 from 4 to 9 p. m."

W. Kirchhoff, Secretary.

Senior Class Play Given Two Nights

What? "A Pair of Sixes." When? Friday, April 8, and Saturday April 9.

Where? Arlington Heights high school auditorium.

Are you interested? Of course you're interested. If you aren't, you should be. The Senior class has spent a great deal of time in rehearsing a play that will be interesting and fun to everyone. "A Pair of Sixes" concerning the partnership of Mr. T. Boggs Johns and Mr. George B. Nettleton in the Eureka Digestive Pill Co. Each partner thinks he is sole "boss." This is carried to such a point that they find it impossible to agree about anything. They decide to dissolve the partnership. Neither one will buy the other out and it is impossible to divide the business and carry it on competitively because there is no way of determining which should retain the present name of the company. How can it be settled? Come and see Thomas T. Vanderhoff decide this weighty problem. What is the outcome? After you hear Mrs. Nettleton scream and Coddles cry "HO! Dearie Me." You will be fully informed as to that. Did it pay? We'll leave that to you.

The Senior class has always had a reputation of putting on good plays. They have worked hard to bring this play up to that standard and feel pretty sure you will not be disappointed. Don't miss it! Get your tickets now.

Watch Herald for Honeymoon Home Story

The HERALD has arranged through the Charles P. Gray Company, subdividers of Arlington Addition, and Geo. L. Parker & Son, contractors, to put on exhibition a modern Honeymoon Home. One of the most significant indications of the cultural development of a city is manifested by its progress in the construction of beautiful homes.

Realizing this and wishing to make Arlington Heights a city of homes worthy of its setting of natural beauty the HERALD has a great surprise for the citizens of the Northwest side.

The HERALD is going to make the down payment to the winner of the Honeymoon Home. All that is necessary for a chance on the home is for any person to register his or her name at the subdivision office in Arlington addition.

There will be a full announcement next week. In the meantime, registered EARLY on Saturday and Sunday.

Northbrook Fire Dept. Appeals for Aid for Adequate Protection

Everybody who owns a home and home furnishings, or other buildings and contents, appreciates adequate fire protection. Fire insurance companies recognize efficient fire departments in communities where they can be of service in reduced insurance rates.

The Northbrook Fire Department has complete fire fighting equipment to serve capably a comparatively large area. It has a powerful engine, sufficient hose, chemical tanks and other apparatus. A group of volunteers are always ready to respond when the calls come.

The cost to maintain this equipment has not been excessive, but it has been a continual financial drain on the department, so that it has been deemed necessary to make an appeal to every one residing within the fire district, benefiting by this service, for a donation that will help to maintain satisfactory operation.

The department does not wish to deplete the fund on being rapidly completed and during the week of April 10 to 17 special meetings will be held with interesting talks by out of town men.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Therrien attended the family gathering at the home of her sister, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Borre at Glenview last Sunday the other guests were Mr. and Mrs. Rosier of Chicago, Fred Luhnnow, Mr. and Mrs. Stange, Mr. and Mrs. Carmin and their mother, Mrs. Wm. Luhnnow. A pleasant time listening to the new console radio was the main feature.

Deerfield-Shields High Sends Invitation for Parents to Attend

Many times we hear the students say, "Oh, my mother and dad do not know what we do at school." And it is true, isn't it? School routine has changed since we were in the small high school with only a few teachers.

We want you to visit us on April 1 to see exactly what your boy or girl does each day at school. In order that both of you may come, we are going to start the day at 9 o'clock and run until 9 o'clock in the evening. Our usual noonday lunch periods will come from 5:30 to 7:00 p. m. We are planning to serve you in our lunch room just as we serve your boy and girl each day.

Our day will continue into the evening hours so that the fathers may attend classes with their sons or daughters. Our plan is to have no change in the daily schedule except the change in time. We want you to attend classes, study hall, library, shop, with your children so that you may know how our children spend their time at Deerfield-Shields.

Because of the limited space in our halls and because of the great number of parents who are interested in seeing their children at work, we are holding classes on that day for sophomores, juniors, and seniors only. We plan to give the parents of the freshmen an opportunity to see them at work early next year.

Don't you think it would be good for your child and good for you to know just how he spends his day, just what kind of instruction he is getting, just how he is getting on in his work?

Then come to see April 1, from 3 to 9 o'clock.

THE FACULTY, Deerfield-Shields High School.

IMPORTANT NOTICE

There will be an important business meeting of the Parent-Teachers association on Friday, April 1, at 2:15 P. M. in the English Club Room of the high school. The nominating committee will give its annual report.

Sunday School Class Entertains

The Men's Bible class of the Northfield Evangelical church, Deerfield and Sanders roads last Monday night entertained the ladies class and friends of both classes with their children. Some fifty were present and enjoyed a good social time under the leadership of John Dobbins and John Croft.

The mens committee F. Dobbins, I. N. Hubert and Lawrence Schriber with the help of Mr. Person very ably looked after the eating part of the evening cutting the cake and distributing to all.

Some of the women have become so used to washing dishes that they insisted on assisting so that the work would be finished up correctly. Thank you folks for does not the scripture say, it is not good that man should be alone?

The class hopes to do something like it frequently so that the church may become more truly a social and spiritual center for the community.

Having been retired from the Senate, Lenroot of Wisconsin decides to stay in Washington and practice law, probably with some lobby work on the side. It would be interesting to know how much the ex-senators around Washington outnumber the real senators during a session of congress.

Twice the night before Christmas. All over the house.

There wasn't enough home-brew left for a mouse.

BOY-BAKED BREAD

Many boys who love the great open spaces so much that they hardly know how to spend the time between the last camping trip and the next, do not know how to bake bread.

They make hunter's stew, flapjacks, cocoa and rice pudding—but bread is a stumbling block.

Here is a simple little recipe that may be followed without oven or elaborate equipment.

Take one and a quarter cups of flour, one teaspoon baking powder one teaspoon sugar, a quarter teaspoon salt, a tablespoon of shortening and a quarter pound of raisins. You may put them all in the same dish before you leave home, if you wish.

When ready to cook mix the ingredients well. Add enough water to make a dough, being sure not to have it lumpy. Put some lard into your frying pan and fry bread or "raisin raise" over a slow fire, turning often to keep from scorching.

When once you have mastered this, you may call yourself a real outdoor cook.

Teacher—"Give me a sentence containing the words 'frolicsome' and 'halter'."

Bright boy—"The runaway mare wanted to frolic some and no one could halt her."

One of our letters to the Hebrew calls Jesus "Our High Priest." He is indeed our high priest, in that he brings God nearer to us, and leads us nearer to God. He is our high Priest, not because of what he was before he was born or because of the way in which he was born, or because of what happened to him after he was crucified but because he so loved God the Father, and because he so loved God's children that he was willing to give all his life for others, to reveal God to man, and lead men to God. He has called us to follow him as priests, to do the kind of work he did, meditating between God and man trying to bridge the gap between Divinity and Humanity, by our faith, and love and deeds. If you are not trying to do that you can not honestly call yourself a Christian.

Rev. Heidtke of Morton Grove Gets Surprise

Rev. Heidtke's birthday came around Friday March 25. That is nothing unusual. One's birthday comes around every year and all ways on the same date. So in itself it doesn't take one by surprise. One is prepared for it and when a person is over 30 he sees no advantage in making much ado about it and so it happens that birthdays come and go and we live on without being much disturbed by them. So it was with Rev. Heidtke.

But on his last birthday he got shock that not only shook him up somewhat Friday evening but was of such duration that he was not quite himself the next day. The thing he can't quite figure out is how his congregation old and young who are all devoted to him, could keep such a thing from him, not even giving him the slightest hint until the world's most famous car, the car that's paid for, as one of the speakers described the car, stood in front of the parsonage.

All on the quiet the Y. P. S. under the leadership of Mr. Paul Bismann had conceived the idea that their pastor should have a car. It didn't need much talking and convincing among them. Two weeks ago some one made the suggestion they get busy at work in two short weeks they had raised enough money not only for a car but for a garage as well. Rev. Heidtke has a fine bunch of young people. They are earnest workers for the church and determined to accomplish things worthwhile. At present they are in the race with two other societies of the church to raise $3000.00 for the building fund $1000.00 for each society and the young people are in the lead. Rev. Heidtke says "leave it to the young people."

For Friday night it being the night of the Y. P. S.'s meeting which is always attended by Rev. Heidtke, the Y. P. had planned the surprise. They had invited several of their pastor's friends from his pastoral conference, Rev. Toepel, Rev. Barts of Waukegan and Rev. Kieseling from Northville. When Rev. Heidtke came into the hall to attend the meeting he was confronted not only by the young people but by the old as well. The whole hall was filled. Rev. Heidtke was nonplussed. The visiting pastors led him on the speakers' platform where a huge birthday cake with, we didn't count them, 24 candles for that's as old as Rev. Heidtke says he feels started him in the face. Speeches of congratulations were made by the visiting pastors, Mr. Raabe, president of the congregation and Mr. Paul Bismann, president of the Y. P. S., who presented Rev. Heidtke with the keys and bill of sale of the car donated him as a birthday gift. Rev. Heidtke was visibly affected by the love and devotion of the congregation toward him manifested by such a royal gift. This he expressed in answering the speeches and congratulations. He thanked all and again wishes thru the

If our beautiful village wants to rival or out distance Evanston, our neighbor, a clean up week for spring might be in order. No other village has so many curbs, curbing and ditches to be littered with peddlers broken boxes, broken milk bottles, junk, etc., as any observer can see around here.

Mrs. Wm. Galitz, Mrs. W. Kartheu and Alma E. Klehm are on the convalescent list. We will be glad to see them out soon.

A Ford coupe and lumber truck collided at the corner of Lincoln and Floral Aves., Monday. No one was injured. This is rather a dangerous corner on account of the large number of cars going to and from the Recreational parlors. Another stop sign might be suggested as several collisions have occurred at this corner.

Our fire department seems to get quite a number of emergency calls. They certainly respond quickly and do good work.

Physical Education For All Children

Critics of the public school say that too much attention is given to athletics for a chosen few and not enough to physical education for the large number of children that really need it. The teachers hope to remove the cause for this criticism by the enactment of House Bill No. 118 introduced by Mrs. Rena Elrod of Chicago and referred to the House Committee on Education.

This bill proposes to amend the physical education law enacted in 1915 by making it apply to all pupils, by providing for a definite course of instruction in health education for a definite administration of the law. The purposes set forth in the bill are as follows:

"To develop ideals of efficiency as dependent upon organic vigor, bodily and mental poise, proper physical development and obedience to the rules of hygiene.

"To instruct pupils in physiology and the laws of health and the conditions that promote physical and mental efficiency.

"To develop personal health habits and a hygienic school and home life.

"To secure scientific supervision of the sanitation of school buildings and playgrounds and the equipment thereof."

The bill provides that all tax-supported state schools for the training of teachers shall have special courses in physical education and shall require all students to take such courses. The normal school board shall establish a special curriculum at one or more of the State Normal schools for training expert supervisors of physical education. The general state supervisors of physical education, physical education shall be appointed by the Superintendent of Public Instruction, and his duties are clearly set forth in the bill.

Many of the physical weaknesses and deformities and much of the ill-health, lowered vitality and lessened efficiency among our people could be prevented by proper physical education and health training in youth. Therefore, it is claimed that such a law as is proposed in Mrs. Elrod's bill would pay its cost many times over in health, happiness and increased efficiency of our people.

OBITUARY

Miss Caroline Heims was born in Palatine township Sept. 12, 1852, and died March 20, 1927, aged 74 years, 6 months, 8 days. Deceased was confirmed in the Schaumburg Lutheran church. She was united in marriage to Fred Schuneman on Feb. 24, 1871, and they lived on the old homestead until 1905, when they moved to Palatine. Mrs. Schuneman died Sept. 17, 1921. Mrs. Schuneman was ill about two weeks, spending only five days in bed, before she died. The funeral was held March 24, at the Palatine Lutheran church with interment in southside cemetery. Addison Opposes Salt Creek Conservancy

Monday March 28 a public hearing was held in DuPage county court house at Wheaton before Judge Rathje to determine the boundaries of the again proposed Creek Conservancy district. The court room was crowded beyond capacity by the property owners, mostly farmers who reside in this district. They were determined to do something either get out of the district or else find some means to stop its formation.

A number of property owners were represented by Attorney Connor who presented numerous objections to the plan as now proposed. After this all those who owned property along the proposed boundaries of the district were heard. It was found that a considerable amount of land that did not drain into the creek had been included in the district as it was laid out. After carefully going over the boundaries in consultation with adjacent property owners the court excluded all such lands and established new boundaries for the district. This brought relief to quite a number of the objectors. The hearing was continued to Monday April 4 when further objections will be heard.

The big problem seems to be, "Why should all this land in Addison and Bloomingdale townships which drains into the creek and merely supplies the stream with clean, unpolluted drainage water be made to pay for relieving the creek of the polluted waters caused by that which is drained into the stream further down its course." To the farm owner it looks as just another one of those cases where he is made to pay some one else's bill. Can anyone blame him for showing opposition to such a movement?

That Los Angeles man who has been sentenced to 60 days in jail for stealing pennies from a newsboy probably will know enough to embark on some "respectable" line of dishonesty next time.

Itasca Lutheran School News

March not only brought the spring fever, but also revived the usual baseball fever. Although the batter often missed the ball at first and threw over the fence when it should have struck first base, both boys and girls are improving rapidly. Of course, we couldn't join the Cubs and White Sox on their way to the practice field in California, so everybody will excuse. The pleasure of play, nevertheless, is of the first degree.

Edwin and Paula Schwarz, Fred Boehne, Paula Elbert, Edgar Bunge and Edna Rosewinski celebrated their birthday this month. Each pupil invited either the classmates or intimate friends and of course enjoyed the day. For no one was asked to study history, geography or to abstain from talking, but pleasant jolly games were played and the treat for the eyes and stomach when the lunch was served was genuine.

And pretty and useful presents were presented such as handkerchiefs, pencils, pencil-box, tablets, pocket combs, autographs, stocking Easter rabbits ready to eat, etc.

The history classes have finished their year's allotment and are reviewing at present. Many interesting stories were read during this month. The fourth grade for instance, read a lesson of two children, Georgia and Gino, who were dissatisfied attending school every day. Their wish was to be an ant or a butterfly, thinking that to be the height of happiness. Their wish was fulfilled. Georgia became a butterfly and Gino an ant. But they were certainly disappointed finding that an ant and a butterfly are very busy little creatures, that they now had to work harder than at school.

Finally they became girl and boy again and each had learned a good lesson.
Lorraine Speckman, Annetta Bicknese and Rudolph Zerzen were on the sick list for a time.

OBSERVER'S NOTES

Let me observe the lovely things
That grow about our door
And all the cheerful friendly
things
That make my cup run o'er.
Let me observe the hopeful things
In our home town today,
That higher thought, and living brings
And points a better way.

One of the most perplexing
things to be noted is not the weather, the schools, or politics. It is the attitude of indifference to questions of moral character, evidenced by people who claim to be Christians, and their, how shall I say it? two faced attitude toward those who have been their friends
when they needed friends.

Let that be solved, as many other perplexing problems, by time,
and He who ruleth in all things.

May I say here, one of the most surprising things lately noted was the announcement of Julius Flentie, as candidate for mayor, not that Julius isn't one of our most substantial trustworthy home business men, always staunch and reliable. The surprise came in adjusting myself to the change in the boy, Julius, who used to be a steady customer at Schiffman's for those toothsome five cent pies. Oh yes, and he treated the other boys too—hard to get from Julius then to the Mr. J. D. Flentie, the strong worthy citizen of today, asking to be our mayor.

The most aggravating thing I have observed of late is the misuse of the public press in the city of Chicago. Especially in this triangular contest for the office of mayor. The city can never outlive the wicked lies, underhand dealing, vastly used in politics. Who can know where the truth is to be found?

In Arlington Heights, where we have no bad men seeking office, we may have our personal opinions, and prejudices, we may even be at variance with the methods which obtain in official circles, yet no one of us would malign or slander another for the sake of winning a vote. That is crime.

One of the most persistent things I've observed beside a robin pulling an angle worm out of the soil is that one who tries to head all the committees, fill all the positions and be in all places at once. Talk about our dual existence, our Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde lives, why there are good people in our little town who are obscured with the idea that they are a multitude, in their greed for being at the head of every movement,
on the boards. Good people too,
but over persistent.

The most comfortable thing I've observed is our good friend, Mrs.
A. Whiting, moving in her superb composed way about her rooms
preparing the evening meal; peeling potatoes, beating up eggs, or whatever she did. She seemed to give out such a sense of comfort, and comfortable living, that just made me feel at home. I can just imagine she will want to box my ears for saying this, but it is truth and I have to tell the truth, 'cause someone said I looked like George Washington!

The most gratifying thing was to see those two sons of Mr. Otto Landmeier putting their recently acquired knowledge to use by trimming the windows in their father's store front. Splendid idea it was, and I have been gratified to observe all the way that Mr. and Mrs. Landmeier are using wise methods by interesting them in home, its work and its amusements. And verily they will have their reward. Though Mr. Land-meier admits that running his business is an easier problem, that to know how and what is the right way to train his children. In this all parents will sympathize. Yet it is an encouraging thing to hear that parents are more and more aware to their share in this greatest of all problems.

Another happy thing to learn about is the recovery of Miss Elsie Hildebrandt, who after three months severe illness is able to be out once more. We have all learned to highly esteem Miss Elsie, who by her pleasant manner and obliging ways won so many warm friends during her long term of service in The National Store, and all will be glad to see her in her old place, when she is fully recovered.

Reckon about the most cheerful thing observed is the robins and song sparrows, who have sung right along, even though their

"bare knees" were stiff with cold.
Here they had been interviewing
all the tree, vine and brush realtors to select the most favorable homesite for building nests and bringing up a family, when here comes this cold wave, sleet and ice and chilling winds, do they whine and whimper? Not a note of it. The cold morning air is made glorious with their cheerful buoyant songs.
Cheerful? They are it!

One of the most appalling things
has been the tales of boy bandits and the fact of boy thieves running loose in Arlington Heights. It is a sad, a terrible thing to think such boys can grow up here in this clean, bright little city of homes.
What is wrong with us that this can happen? Are we doing our duty as parents, as teachers, and as good citizens, in looking after our boys?

One thing I do know—Boys
should have friends, "Big Brothers", in every place they go. Danger comes to boys who stray about in little groups of three or four, without plan or purpose. Some older person should always have their movements under observation. The boy scout plan is good, yet somehow it does not reach
all.

The saddest thing I observe is parents, who are too lazy or too indifferent to conscientiously and all the time look to the welfare of their children. Morally as well as physically. Bearing children does not make a true mother, if the material instinct does not possess and move the heart. The saddest thing one who has a heart to mother all children—is to see the unmotherly mothers, ruining the lives of the children placed under their care, yes this is the saddest thing.

The most selfish thing, observed is the person into whose hands has been given large means and large opportunities using these to glorify self, to build up a popularity among those who are not in need of bounty, and who are more than able to go on their own, when there are so many in hard luck,
and losing venture, who pitifully need help and encouragement. Selfish self aggrandisement. We are sorry to observe.

Over against these sad observations I've seen within the week
some of the most unselfish, kindly things, among neighbors, friends and families, that ever could be witnessed this side of heaven. A sister giving her time and strength to help to care for another's family. A neighbor going without to supply some needed article to another, and a carpenter working over time to help repair
a leaky roof and most unselfish of all a man staying at home to care for the children, so his wife might go to church.

The bravest and most courageous is those women in the Missionary society, who meet day after day, and put, infinitesimal stitches in rows curves and rings in quilts to tune of about ten cents an hour,
the money to go, not to pay off
the French war debt, nor the expiation fund, but for good and worthy work in missions. Yes, self denying, persistent and courageous are they.

I've mentioned, more than once
the unselfish and splendid work of those two busy young people who carry on the night school in Arlington Heights. A work of real patriotism. A right method of leading our new found foreign citizens to understand the ideals and policies of our American government;
in the only true and intelligent way helping to Americanize all who come to us. A noble unselfish work.

A most encouraging thing observed is a young mother, with her two manly little sons, and the wee baby sister, always in their places in church, and the gentle courteous manners of those boys and their watchful care of that little baby sister, their obedience to their mother's look and wish has been a most encouraging evidence that at least some parents are bringing up children in the right way.
You should note Mrs. Jackson and her fine little group.

Another most persistent act observed this week was a young man trying to get an order for tea and coffee from an old hard headed individual who has an unshaken belief in the duty of buying at home.
Nice young man he was too, and it took near an hour to convince him he couldn't break down an established principle, to deal with home dealers. Best part of it all was, before he left the hopeless case he gave convincing evidence of his firm Christian faith. I hope that young man succeeds, but not in selling tea and coffee in Arlington Heights?

The most beautiful thing observed was the glory of the sunset one evening last week. The glory of the heavens at night! The greening grass, the swelling buds

We have been accused of play-scores. Such reports are erroneous and it gives ye scribe pleasure to pin a badge this week on R.

Boeger of the Peoples State Bank team. He rolled 278 pins that evening which lacks only one pin of equaling the high game score
which he secured two weeks ago.
He captured high three games of the season by rolling 681 the same evening. If they made flowers of three games. Koehler himself, was and the flash of bird wings in the branches. A dear little baby cud-dling close in its mother's arms, and the faces of dear friends about me. And so the days come and go the sunrise and the sunset, the wonderful beauty of earth transformed, under the world old miracle of spring. Nature's resurrection.

The most inspiring thing this week was to listen to that earnest and because so earnest, eloquent sermon preached by the Rev. Kossack last Sunday morning. One of a series given at the Easter season approach. The best part of these simple, yet strong sermons, is they are given in a way to convince those who hear, that the man believes what he preaches, just straight, plain gospel sermons. And I'm sure while I could not hear all our pastors, they too, were giving inspiring helpful messages.

Speaking of a well known person the other day some one said:
"Why will she never be her self?"
Always trying to ape some one else, or trying to mask her real sentiments. "Why I echo, why?"

So many we disguise
Their real selves to hide.
We often meet surprises.
Our eyes that open wide.

So many are pretending
To be what they are not.
They blind, by an unending Claim, which, they never got

One wears a mask so pious
It would deceive a saint,
No clever tact or bias,
Could pierce his coat of paint.

One goes forever smiling
Above the heart of hate,
And one with cheer beguiling
Bears sorrows burdens, great.

And one who never varies
In emphasis or tone
Who every question parries
Directly answering none.

Who never seems aggressive
But lives a code of tact
Determined, all possessive
Wins out in spite of fact.

One wears a mask of knowledge
All burnished up like brass,
And despite schools or college
Gets in the credit class.

One seems so loving, tender
Without affections, deep
Of true love an offender
That makes the angels weep

Why do we wear disguises
Why not to self be true?
None then would meet surprises
Mistaking me—for you!

Arlington Elevator
Christens "Sudden
Delivery" Big Truck

"Sudden Delivery" is the latest member of the fleet of trucks operated by the Arlington Elevator & Coal Co. It joined the family Monday morning. It is the biggest boy of them all and it is a product of the Reiland & Bree plant at Northbrook. It is an H. B. eight transmission truck with dual pneumatic rear wheels. "The boy has a big appetite, eats up five and six tons
of material without even a cough,

goes anywhere, no matter what kind of ground is underneath."
Those were the words of the junior member of the firm. The Schneibergers are rather proud of their new truck but are going to let the truck speak for itself in "Sudden deliveries" from which it receives its name. The speed of this firm is not alone in its trucks. There has been installed in its office a Weightograph, which automatically weighs every load that goes upon the scales. This not alone saves minutes, but it gives an accurate weight of materials and prevents the possibility of error.

Importance

It is of importance that many should know in advance what the service is to cost. We want all to know that each ceremony is conducted with considerate care and is within their means.

F. L. H. LUEDERS, Editor

On Friday afternoon March 25, Mrs. W. J. Jones entertained twelve or fourteen ladies at her home. Five Hundred was played and several beautiful prizes were awarded to the winners. The first prize going to a guest from Des Plaines, while Mrs. Ed. Pingel carried off the booby prize.

During the past ten days Miss Gertrude Wuerfel has been honored with three or four farewell surprise parties. These parties were sponsored by the confirmation classmates and friends of Miss Gertrude. These pleasant evenings will in the future, act as a reminder to her of her many friends in Mount Prospect. The following young ladies having been the hostesses: Misses Clara Beigel, Clara

Katz, Mable Seegers and Luella Weide.

On Friday evening, March 25, the Ladies Aid gave a farewell surprise party in honor of Mrs. Herman Wuerfel at the home of one of the members. An agreeable evening was spent with various games, at the close of which refreshments were served and all joined in extending best wishes.

We are glad to say that during the past week no new reports have come in of any contagious diseases. This sounds good and hoping there will be no more this season.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Busses little daughter has been seriously ill and is improving nicely as she is now able to be up and around although still very weak.

Both Ralph and Adaline Busses are doing well.

Rev. J. E. A. Mueller's family is still quarantined, and we sincerely hope that their siege of sickness will soon be over.

On Tuesday March 29, Arnold Mulso was taken to the Deaconess hospital, Chicago and operated on for hernia.

Fred Schaeffer who has just been home from the hospital since last week, forgot himself by attempting to walk without enough assistance the result of which was that he received a fall.

It is with regret that we announce that Mr. and Mrs. Herman Wuerfel and family are leaving Mount Prospect this week, to take up their abode in Jefferson Park, having lived here for twelve years.

Mrs. Wuerfel has been an ardent worker for the Ladies Aid of St. Paul Lutheran church and through her cheerful disposition made friends with whom she became acquainted. Their many friends take this means of extending to them best wishes for good luck, health and contentment in their new surroundings.

It is also with regret that we announce the loss of Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Swan, of Main street. They are moving to Glencoe and to them also we extend best wishes in their new home.

Rev. Carl Eissfeld father of Mrs. Herman Noll and Mrs. Herman Wuerfel has been placed in charge of the City Mission Tuberculosis Sanitarium work. Rev. Eissfeld has had considerable experience in work of this nature and we wish him success in this undertaking.

Sunday April 3 and April 10 the church services will begin at 10:00 a. m. There will only be one service on these two Sunday and those services will be in both English and German. Please note the change in time of the services. Next Sunday at 2 p. m. the congregation meeting will also be held.

The records of the superintendent of buildings indicate that sixteen permits for new buildings has been issued so far this year. This is going ahead of last years record in fine style. We hope the percentage of increase will be maintained throughout the year.

Henry Reese & Sons were awarded the bid for the Country club subdivision water mains extension last Friday. They have started to haul pipe on the job. This is prompt service. The second public hearing was held on the paving projects and all three projects were given public approval. It is pleasing to note the harmony in which our residents work when it comes to improvements. The meeting was just one grand get together with a few minor explanations. When Attorney Thial read the resolutions the drop of a pin could have been heard.

Sunday the traveling public was rather reckless as two collisions occurred at Main street and the Northwest Highway. These are about the first mishaps on this heavy traveled corner since the installation of the stop and go light about a year ago. Experience is a dear and expensive teacher so let the reckless motorist pay for his damages.

The new Busse business block is well underway and the bricklayers have started. Carpenters, putting up the concrete forms, are having a busy time keeping ahead of the concrete men. Wonderful progress has been made.

Sunday was a busy day in Mt. Prospect as quite a few people went thru both the C. Ryan model home and the Lonnquist model home. With so many cars in our village it looked like almost everybody stopped to look at either one or both of these buildings. All the real estate operators report Sunday as a big day for them which means another growth for Mt. Prospect.

The board of town auditors held their regular meeting Tuesday and it was a well balanced set of books that were audited for the town of Elk Grove.

The general health conditions in our village have improved considerably and everybody is happy as can be.

By voting in favor of the new school house at the election next Tuesday, we can place our village in the same rank as its neighbors. Conditions have demanded that something be done. Our directors have taken the vital step to give us a school building that will be properly equipped to take care of the educating of the children in the correct way so that there will have the basis for a training that is absolutely essential to the American citizen. What is a better goal to set for the future generation than that which we have now set before us in giving them the right to be educated so they may meet the worlds problem with a weapon that cannot be destroyed by mankind? Education under proper supervision and conditions is an American institution of learning and the fact remains that it is up to every parent to do the duty that is theirs and that is bring up your children and give them the education they not only desire but should have in a place that is modern, safe and sanitary. This is the reason it is up to every voter in our village to go to the school election on April 5th and vote Yes on the school bond question. You will do this if you have the best interests of your village at heart and this you surely have, if you are a resident of the village.

WHEELING

A baby daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Moeller at the Wheeling hospital on Tuesday March 22. The mother and baby are doing nicely.

Mr. Albert Karth, who suffered a sick spell several weeks ago, is able to be up and around again.

Mr. Hans Schmidt has broken ground for the new home, which he will erect on Willie street this summer.

Twenty members and friends of the Wheeling church attended the Presby. Union dinner at the Hotel LaSalle several weeks ago.

Mrs. Jos. Bellmore underwent a serious operation at the American hospital in Chicago, on the 17th. She has been doing very nicely and hopes to be home again in several weeks.

Wheelingites on the real estate excursion trip to Texas this week are Mr. and Mrs. Aug. Grewe, Mr. Arthur Fallscher and Mr. Otto Utpadel.

Ruth and Marion Grewe are staying with the Ed. Hank family while their parents are away to Texas.

Our beauty parlor opens Saturday. Special souvenirs will be given to the ladies. A beauty parlor is not a luxury. It has become a necessity and Mrs. Utpadel is filling a want in Wheeling. Gentlemen, if you want your wives and daughters to be well-groomed, provide them with "expense money."

Friendship Club Entertains
Sixteen members of the Friendship club of Chicago chartered a bus and motored to Wheeling on Wednesday the 23rd, where they were entertained at luncheon at the Union Hotel by one of their members, Mrs. Hy. Hobler.

The following members were present. The Mesdames Rickman, Obermann, Hahn, Swain, Cornell, Hobler, Bender, Bodenschatz, Riestler, Stotz, Trojan and Kuschman, the Misses Goldmann, Jungling, Rickman and Smith. Mrs. John Meyer and Mrs. J. A. Schminke, of Wheeling were guests of honor.

Luncheon was served at one o'clock following which a happy afternoon passed at cards and bunco. Mrs. Bodenschatz and Mrs. John Meyer carried away the first prizes.

When the bus arrived at 5:30 to call for the party, all were grateful toward their hostess for the pleasures of the afternoon.

The Great Tragedy

Of All the Ages

A figure, saintly of main, dignified in bearing and clad in flowing white robes, moved across a hillside. He was the Christus in the Freiburg Passion play. His approach hushed the audience at the Playhouse Theatre on Michigan avenue in Chicago into a silence that will ever be felt. His presence was a symbol never before encountered in a playhouse here. It foreshadowed the greatest tragedy in the world's history. As the Man of Sorrows trod the Via Crucis the Theatre for a time became a temple, illumined by the Light of the World.

Civilization was based on the events depicted in the Passion Play of the Life of Jesus Christ, the Son of God, and the fact that it is now being shown to the public in line with prophecies to be found in the old Testament.

To give the audience an idea of the temples and grounds which serve as a stage for the performance of the Passion Play at Freiburg, motion pictures of the group of concrete constructed buildings, their foregrounds and backgrounds, are shown. Those pictures of the group of concrete constructed buildings, their foregrounds and backgrounds, are shown. Those pictures, coupled with others of the town itself and of many of the citizens as they come and go, bound for work or pleasure, help one to understand the character of the place and its people.

The play adheres closely to the biblical narrative. As for the enactment of the drama, it is what could be expected by a company steeped in the traditions of the work and so trained in all the details of the action that individual and concerted efforts result in a flawless ensemble. For nearly 100 years, members of the Fasnacht family of Freiburg have taken part in the performance. They have been so bred that it that their present representatives, Adolph, who embodies the Christus, and George who portrays Judas so merge themselves into their roles that the illusions they create are as startling as they are impressive.

In its entirety the production, supervised by Dmitri Buchowitzki, is a milestone along the way of progressive art in motion pictures, and is produced by Joseph Francis Meyers, it will continue for a limited engagement twice daily, 2:15 and 8:15 at popular prices which are within the reach of everyone.

There is something notably good about this house, a certain grace of line—good character.

Weathered brown shingles compose the sloping roof and the wide siding is painted white—cream colored siding would also be effective. The shutters are a warm shade of green, and the round headed front door and quaint little entrance gates are made more unique by painting them green, also.

Lovely old Colonial "Clinker" brick make the chimney and vestibule attractive and different.

There is a small vestibule with two coat closets just inside the entrance door. From there one enters the living room, which has a large fireplace. There is a sun porch connecting with the living room and the well arranged and very compact stairs lead up from the living room.

The second floor rooms are grouped about a small hall. The three bedrooms and the tiled bath all connecting with it. There are numerous closets on this floor those necessary adjuncts that help so much to keep one's house in order.

This house is truly attractive and practical combining many good features and preserving an artistic exterior at the same time.

The laundry, heating plant, etc.,

may be found in the cellar. Cost about $9600.

Complete working plans and specifications for this house may be obtained for a nominal sum from the Building Editor, refer to House A-128.

If you are planning and equipping a kitchen, think first, last, and all the time of the work to be done in it. Don't make the room too big. Make a kitchen oblong so that work centers can be grouped to better advantage.

Moldy bread may be due to wrapping the bread up before it is thoroughly cool, or to lack of care of the bread box. In addition to airing the bread box frequently, sometimes scald it out thoroughly, and dry it in a warm oven or on the back of the stove, or directly in the sun. Molds do not like dry hot air or sunshine.

Rolls can be rewarmed satisfactorily if they are brushed over with milk and put in a covered pan to steam through. After the rolls are heated through, take the cover off the pan so the outside will get crisp again.
